The funeral took place at the Oyen cemetery at 4:30 p.m. on Monday. Services at the home of the parents and at the graveside were conducted by the Rev. R. E. Finlay.

During her residence here, which dates back to the pioneer days of the village in 1910, Mrs. Meacham has been an active member and faithful worker in all local societies in which the ladies in town have taken part. The entertainment which was in form of a social gathering was held so that Mrs. Meacham's fellow workers could show their esteem and admiration and express their sorrow at her intended departure for the coast.

A pleasant feature of the afternoon were the talks reminiscences of the by gone days told by the various "pioneer" women of the district, who were present, which brought back many pleasant memories and added to the merriment of the gathering.

During the afternoon a dainty tea was served when the hostess, Mrs. S. A. Miller was ably assisted by Mrs. E. P. Barbour Mrs. J. W. Robinson, Mrs. J. H. Alexander, Mrs. Crockett and Mrs. J. J. Kelly.

Democracy

To nlay discontent over high cost of living the British Government is buying wheat and selling the flour at less than cost. A British report puts the deficit on that account at two hundred and fifty million dollars a year. To avoid irritating the public by charging it the full cost of rail transportation it is shouldering a deficit of about three hundred millions a year on railroad operations. Its intervention in the coal industry—to placate miners on the one hand and users of coal on the other—seems likely to create a deficit of a couple of hundred millions. Subsidizing people to keep them good-natured is supposed to have got the ancient adage. Rome into a great deal of trouble. It looks a good deal like bribing influential groups of voters, though the British Government would no doubt be indignant at that imputation.—Lorimer in S.E.P.

A Skating Rink for the Young People

We assume that the Oyen Curriers will organize as usual this coming winter and will have their rinks in the Agricultural hall. The general ideal one for men who like exercise and good company and we hope that every effort will be made to make the coming season the most successful yet. Of course it is early to talk of curling, but we introduce the subject for a two-fold reason. We should like to see the Oyen curriers make a name for themselves and we should like to see a skating rink for the youngsters. During the winter months the young people should be given every opportunity for healthy exercise, and one of the best things they can do is to get out and skate.

When preparations for the curling rink are being made, it seems that a rink might be made alongside the agricultural hall at a reasonable cost. We have not examined the site very closely, but from a cursory glance, we should say that a very small amount of work would be necessary to put the ground into good shape to be flooded. This of course would have to be done before the frost gets into the ground.

And why not have a well on the site?

We hope this matter will receive the attention it merits.

Sitting of District Court

His Honour, Judge Winter, of Calgary, presided over a sitting of the District Court here on Thursday, September 11th, when the following cases were up.

Samuel Dixon vs. William Lewis. In this case neither the plaintiff nor his lawyer put in appearance, so the case was dismissed. Mr. F. C. McClean appeared for the defendant.

Tudhope Anderson Co. Ltd. vs. James K. McLeod. The action in this case was for the purchase price of a seed drill sold to McLeod in 1915. The defence was that the drill would not work properly and was returned to the plaintiff's agent. Mr. J. J. Kelly appeared for the defendant. Judgement was reserved.

There were a number of other cases, but these have been postponed till the next sitting of the District Court, which will take place on November 11th, unless a special sitting is called before that date.

A new judicial district of Acadia has been established with court house at Haura which went into effect last Monday.

Church of England Service will be held at 11 a.m. on Sunday at the Methodist Church. A short meeting will be held afterwards to elect a church warden and vestry.

Mr. W. B. Kirkpatrick of the Exco district, brought a wife home last week. Mrs. Kirkpatrick, nee Miss Ida Flemming is from Medicine Hat.

P. A. Moodie of the Bank of Toronto staff has been transferred to the Richdale branch. He will leave for that point this week.

Rabbi Nesbit will be the soloist at next Sunday's service at the Union Church.

In Lighter Vein

A story is told of one of the Prime-Ministers of Great Britain and Ireland. Leaving his home one very foggy November afternoon, he soon got lost. After wandering around rather hopelessly for about half an hour, he decided to enquire at the nearest house as to what locality of the city he was in. In answer to his ring, the door was opened by his own butler who informed him that he was not at home.

Several comments which have been passed on the appearance of our ledger (which is very much "chewed up" at one corner) compel us to tell how this came about. Way back in the days before we went overseas and the word "prescription" had a very different meaning to what it has now we unknowingly locked a dog in the office over night. When we arrived at the office next morning we got the impression that the place had been struck by a cyclone. The floor was littered with papers, the ledger which had been left on the desk had been left on the desk and everything in the vicinity of the desk was spattered with ink. And the dog? Well it did resemble a dog at all. It was covered with patches of red and black ink from the tip of his nose to the end of his tail, and really appeared a most fearsome looking animal. We make this explanation to correct any possible error of opinion that we ourselves are at the corner of the ledger. For the further information to our readers, we may say that we appear our appetite at the Alberta Hotel, where really excellent meals are served at sixty cents per.

A Suggestion for Saving

CASH in the pocket encourages careless spending. You will find it a much easier task to save if you keep your "Spending" money in a Savings Account with The Bank of Toronto. There it is safe and can be drawn upon when really needed.

A reluctance to draw from that account will grow upon you, and protect you from many needless expenditures.

Once the saving habit is acquired, the account, with its earnings of interest, will steadily grow to a substantial amount.

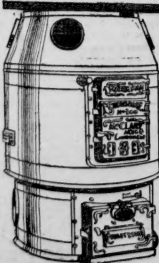

Many young men and women are working out this scheme with us to advantage. It is a plan worthy of a trial.

A meeting will be held in the Oyen school house on Thursday Sept. 18th, at 4.00 p.m. for the purpose of re-organizing the local Women's Institute. A cordial and earnest invitation is extended to all ladies of this district to attend.

During the past few years, the members of this organization have devoted their energy to the Canadian Red Cross and its kindred societies, and more or less neglected their own work. It is now felt that the Women's Institute should once again be put on a business footing and the meeting called for this purpose.

Canada To Prohibit Excess Profiteering

Ottawa.—The Board of Commerce is forthwith to investigate profits on necessities of life. According to a ruling of the board, the special object of the enquiry shall be to accumulate evidence for the purpose of ascertaining what (with allowance in each case for locality) shall be deemed to be fair profits, and to fix a date after which the taking of profits in excess of a rate to be determined shall be deemed to be excessive and shall be liable to prosecution under the Combines and Fair Prices Act. The enquiry will embrace all industries which arise or enhance the benefit of any provision of the act or any other antecedent laws or regulations.

The chief commissioners, Judge M. A. Robson, and Commissioner O'Connor are such outstanding individuals in respect to the board, such as the said commissioners sitting for the purpose at such time and place as may be determined.

Terms Of Bolshevism

Everyone in Russia Lives Under a Shadow of Horrible Death and Terror

LONDON.—Commander Colonel John Ward has arrived in London, having been summoned from Russia by the War Office for a consultation. In an interview he stated that the horrors of Bolshevism had been far from exaggerated. It was, he said, indeed doubtful whether the story of half the atrocities in Russia had yet been told.

The secret of the prolonged regime of the Bolshevism was simply terrorism. Everyone in Russia acted under fear of denunciation and of a horrible death. Besides the fear of food, clothing or other necessities of life for those refusing to profess Bolshevism. Against the Bolshevism controlled the cities, manufacturing districts and all attacks on them had to be made from the sparsely populated areas, hence it was important that the Bolshevism should be supplied with munitions as should be Kolschak.

The Bolshevism forces, states Commander Ward, have practically only a small portion of the munitions supplied Russia by the allies before the revolution fell into the hands of the Germans. Colonel Ward said he believed that the Bolshevism had sufficient munitions for ten years.

U.S. Navy to Go to Great Prince Vancouver.—Hon. Joseph Daniels, secretary of the United States Navy, will send part of his Pacific fleet to Vancouver on September 22, when the Prince of Wales is to be here. Mr. Daniels wired city officials that while he would not be able to be present himself, he would be pleased to send part of the fleet, and would "make such arrangements as possible." Mr. Daniels is to visit Victoria on a dreadnought on September 11.

$30,000 for Grubstakers

Dawson.—The Dawson is a welcoming and re-establishment committee for returned soldiers has adopted resolutions asking the Federal Government for $30,000 for relief of returned men who arrived back here too late to earn a winter grubstake, or who are physically unfit, and asking particularly that soldier-mothers be given this assistance in lieu of land grants.

You will always have money if you save half your earnings.

Miners in Britain Are Still Restless

LONDON.—The situation of the coal question now is that the Miners' Federation has unanimously rejected the government's plan for working the mines in favor of nationalization. They have, however, left it to the Trades Union Congress, to be held at Glasgow on September 8, to decide whether there shall be direct action by the miners or whether constitutional means shall be employed to secure nationalization of the mines.

This means, in the opinion of the competent judges, that direct action will not be taken. The miners nevertheless, are said to be flirting with the idea and will endeavor to induce the labor triple alliance—the miners, transportation workers and railwaymen—to order another ballot

Aviators Take Up Life On Ranch

To Breed Horses Cattle and Sheep—Grow Cotton

LONDON.—A group of former officers of the British forces held a meeting here with the purpose of getting acquainted preparatory to their departure for Central America, where they will take up life on a ranch under the supervision of the British Air Force.

Brig-Gen. Critchley originated the plan in recognition of the part on the part of many other demobilized officers for healthy sporting and adventurous open-air life, combined with unlimited possibilities of a commercial nature.

On the ranch, which is located in a chain of mountains overlooking a fertile area, it is proposed to breed horses and cattle and sheep, and grow cotton and other crops. The estate belongs to General Critchley.

It is planned to divide the land among the members of the party after the first year spent on it. All the members of the party who will make the trip are bachelors, but married men are former officers.

The British forces, will be a member of the club after the inauguration of the enterprise.

Brig-Gen. Crowley, who is widely known in Canada as a sportsman, playing polo, golf and tennis, has his favorite pastime. He was a member of the Lord Strathcona horse club at the outbreak of the war and has since then served with the first Canadian Division. He was awarded the D.S.O. in 1915.

Army Food Going Cheap

Prices Slashed to Meet Cut Made By Chain of Grocery Stores

LONDON.—Sale of surplus army food in New York took on the aspect of a great battle. The War Department, in charge of sales, announced that prices of canned soups had been slashed to meet a cut in soup prices made by a chain of grocery stores following army food sales.

The army soup originally was sold at nine and ten cents a can, which was below the price chain stores were asking for similar products. The army soups were sold for three cents for 25 cents. Commissioner Day's new price for army soup is seven cents.

Commissioner Day also announced revision downward of the prices charged for army food, beef, mutton, condensed milk, corn syrup and canned tomatoes. All these staples now are being sold at prices considerably below their former prices. The price committee, he said, according to Commissioner Day, the army food sales have totalled more than $500,000 in eight days, and at the present rate the supply of army food will have been exhausted in two more weeks.

Warn Income Tax Doggers

WINNIPEG.—A local paper, in a dispatch from London, states that prosecution of income tax doggers will begin this week, according to a report from the Department of Finance. The department, it said, plans vigorous prosecution of all persons who failed to file a return on their income or who gave false information. A general Montreal and Halifax business men and several prominent westerners are in line for early prosecution, it is reported.

Cheaper Meat For New Yorkers

NEW YORK.—The retail price of meat has declined from one to two cents a pound in this city, according to Arthur Williams, federal food administrator, who has just issued his week-day fair price list. The matter of groceries, however, the campaign against the pool has not been so successful, as most of the items under this head have increased slightly.

Germans Must Fulfill Peace Terms

Alley Will Show Firmness in Hearing Peace Treaty Fully Carried Out

PARIS.—Commenting upon the action of the peace conference in simultaneously handling Austria, in final form, the peace terms for her acceptance, and the delivery for a change in the German constitution to eliminate the provision for the election of Austrian representatives to the German parliament, the Paris newspapers declare this was not a simple coincidence. It means, the press argues, at once a firm resolution by the Allies to insist upon respect for the terms of the German treaty as regards Austria and the definite end of the Danubian monarchy.

Australians To Learn Dry Farming

Hundred Picked Veterans Will Study Methods in United States

NEW YORK.—One hundred picked Australian soldiers are being sent to the United States to study dry farming methods. They will return home and teach Australian soldier farmers scientific agronomy and irrigation.

The Australian Commonwealth recently appropriated nearly $250,000 for the aid of returned soldiers and sailors in obtaining land holdings. Believing that a large number of veterans will go into agriculture, the government has sent the Australian soldiers to study dry farming methods.

Significant Shuffle In Cabinet

Hon. Arthur Sifton New Minister of Public Works

OTTAWA.—A small, but, in a way, significant shuffle in the cabinet took place, when Hon. Arthur Sifton, minister of public works, was named to the post of minister of customs, walked across the square and took the place of Hon. R. B. Carvell as minister of public works.

No announcement is yet made as to the customs portfolio, but it is quite possible that when Hon. Arthur Sifton, secretary of state, goes out, H. H. Stevens, of Vancouver, will become minister of customs and the new secretary of state will come from New Brunswick.

By this move Mr. Sifton heads a live spending department, and considerable interest attaches to the change.

Made In Germany

Story of Proposed Attack Upon Petrograd Without Foundation

LONDON.—It has been ascertained from the dispatch from Berlin giving German reports from Riga to the effect that Gen. Gough, of the British army, had issued a proclamation to the personnel of the British army, that an attack was about to be made on that city is untrue.

Gen. Gough left Helsingfors August 19, and at the present time is in England. He did not see Admiral Cowan, commander of the British naval forces, operating in the Baltic before his departure for home.

Armenians Fear Massacre

LONDON.—Responsible authorities in Armenia continue to emphasize the exceedingly grave situation that must follow the withdrawal of British troops. There are conclusive indications that as soon as the withdrawal occurs the Armenians will be attacked from the east and southwest by Tartars, Kurds and Turks, who will likely form a combined force under Turkish officers. The Kurds and Tartars are already moving towards Erivan, the Armenian capital, to be in readiness to strike when the Armenians are left defenceless.

New Zealand Agrees

WELLINGTON, N.Z.—The peace treaty with Germany was unanimously ratified by parliament, after members of the Labor party had criticized the pact.

100,000 Germans Escaped Service

Switzerland Leads Neutral Countries

GENEVA.—Nearly 100,000 officers and men are considered deserters from the German army during the war, according to Munich advices. Included in this number are many thousands who were in England and America at the outbreak and were prevented from joining the German army, although advised beforehand to join the colors, the dispatch says.

Switzerland leads the neutral countries with forty thousand deserters. A proclamation of amnesty to these men has been issued if they will return to Germany this year, but many former German soldiers have refused to do so, fearing that they will be placed in the ranks once again because the allies have permitted Germany to retain her army on a war footing until the end of 1919. The amnesty proclamation does not apply to those accused of treason.

Cheap Meat For U.S.

Five Million Pounds of Frozen Food Made Available By Government

WASHINGTON.—Five million pounds of frozen meats, now in cold storage in New York and Chicago, were offered by the War Department to municipalities for sale. The offer will remain in effect until September 25, at which time other methods of marketing surplus stocks of meat will be resorted to.

The meats in storage include about 12,000 pounds of frozen poultry at 10 cents a pound, and 1,000,000 pounds in the Chicago zone. This will be sold at 32 cents per pound. Large quantities of frozen mutton and pork, shoulders and loins also will be offered from 16 to 27 cents. Since these products can only be transported in refrigerated cars, no order for less than a carload lot will be accepted.

German Doctors For Russian Army

BERLIN.—The medical journals in Germany are publishing advertisements offering positions to German physicians and surgeons in the Russian army. Attractive pay and the right of securing home-leave is promised them.

Medical men are urged to enlist with volunteer troops and organizations for fighting Bolshevism and are promised a premium of 5,000 marks if the counter-revolution is successful.

Austria's Hope Blasted

GENEVA.—The Austro-Persian terms have been received in Vienna with great surprise and indignation, according to advices received here. It is believed that the Renner ministry will fall as a result.

Monarchists circles consider that the terms have definitely killed any hope of return of the Hapsburgs. Former Emperor Charles, who received the news from Paris soon after the reply of the allies was handed to the Austrian commission, has decided to leave Switzerland.

No man ever comes half way up to the expectations mother had of him when he was a boy.

Feasibility Of Airplane For Commercial Use

LONDON.—The Air Minister states that the demonstration flight recently carried out to Scandinavian countries was a flying success. The Force proved to be remarkably successful.

Starting from Felixstowe and proceeding via Dundee, the machine flew direct to Norway and landed at Christiansand, this being the first occasion on which the journey has been accomplished by a British airplane. From Christiansand the trip continued by stages to Christiania, Copenhagen, Stockholm and back to Felixstowe, a total distance of 2,450 sea miles, which was covered in a total flying time of 40 hours and 40 minutes.

The flight was made entirely as a demonstration of the commercial use of flying boats, and it is noteworthy, because of the kind of weather it flew, despite the fact that from its departure until its return, to Felixstowe the machine spent a total of 27 days on the water or in the air. Exhibition and passenger carrying were being carried out at Christiansand, Christiansand and Copenhagen.

The first exhibition flights were made before the King and Queen of Norway, and as the Queen expressed a desire to fly, Her Majesty was taken up on two occasions seated beside the pilot. Her Majesty was keenly interested in his manipulation of the controls and during the second flight, when the Queen was accompanied by the Crown Prince, Her Majesty actually took control of the flying boat for a short period.

It was a good impression was created in each of the Scandinavian towns visited and it is hoped valuable results will accrue to the British aircraft industry in opening up what is perhaps the best market in the world for water-giro craft.

Liquor Congesting London Docks

Big Revenue in Sight If Government Cares to Make Use of It
London—One of the chief causes of the unprecedented state of congestion on the London docks is said to be an enormous influx of wine and rum for which the liquor trade gave tremendous orders immediately after the armistice was concluded. It is reported that the port of London authorities are taking steps to slow down these shipments until conditions become more normal.

A suggestion that the government could make to the liquor trade to moderate its financial problems was made in a speech at Cadby by Baron d'Abernon, chairman of the central (liquor) traffic control board, and known as a moderate in Baron d'Abernon said that despite the increased taxation, the profits from the sale of liquor were greater than at any period in the trade's history. If financial conditions required it, he added, the revenue from alcohol could easily be brought up to £200,000 yearly.

Relieve Congestion Of London Traffic

Plan to Make 5,000 Trucks Do Work of 25,000 Vehicles

London.—A. G. Gattie, in a conference with the board of trade committee with reference to his scheme for the reform of freight traffic in London, said that his proposal to use 5,000 motor trucks for the transport of commodities would be in connection with a centralized freight station, would take 95,000 vehicles of the traffic-jammed streets. Criticizing the present methods of handling cargoes on the London docks, he said it reminded him of "hailing a cistern with a teaspoon."

He advocated the employment of deep water wharves, abandoning docks.

Province Of Saskatchewan
Twice the Size of the United Kingdom and is Considerably Larger Than Germany

The province of Saskatchewan occupies 270,000 square miles, or equal to the combined area of France, Belgium and Holland. It is twice the size of the United Kingdom and is considerably larger than Germany. It stretches for 760 miles from north to south, and has an arable land area of 57,881,160 acres. Only 23 per cent of its arable land is under cultivation, and in 1916 its population was 647,835.

The value of the grain crop in 1918 was $320,245,000. This year there are over ten million acres of land in wheat in this province. The average wheat yield in Saskatchewan for the past six years was 25 bushels per acre per year, while the average wheat yield in the same period in the United States was sixteen bushels per acre per year.

The city of Regina is the capital of the province. Here are very striking and imposing Parliament Buildings. The capital city has a population of about forty thousand.

The province owns its own telephone system, both local and long distance.

It has a splendid university and Agricultural College situated at Saskatoon.

There are two thousand elevators situated throughout the province, with a total capacity of sixty million bushels. Government elevators are operated by Government commissioners and have been very successful.

A great many Americans have settled in this province, the city of Moose for the best passenger business that comes into Canada by way of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Saskatchewan is destined to be predominantly the wheat growing province of the Confederation, and already its total annual wheat yield compares most favorably with any province in Canada.

Canada's Fish Catch Shows Gain
Ottawa.—The total value of sea fish landed in Canada, at the port of landing, during the month of July, was $4,309,818, as compared with $4,306,124 for the same month last year. This is an increase of $3,694.

Good fishing weather prevailed throughout the month on the Pacific coast, with the result that the salmon catch rose to 343,000 cases against 268,000 for the same month last year. The increase, says the monthly statement of the naval department, was contributed altogether by the northern district; the Fraser and Vancouver Island district together fell short by about 9,000 cases.

Board of Commerce To Control Sugar

Board of Commerce Prohibits Certain Parties Exporting Sugar and Unfairly Enhancing Prices

Ottawa.—The Board of Commerce has taken action to control sugar prices by restraining and prohibiting certain parties from disposing of sugar in such a way as to calculate to unfairly enhance its cost. They are particularly restrained from exporting sugar out of Canada. It was stated at the office of the board that this action was taken in view of excessive and unfair prices charged for sugar, and also because large quantities are being or are threatened to be exported from Canada, notwithstanding the urgent need for it in the Dominion.

The board will hold an investigation in Montreal to consider generally the supply and prices of sugar and the effect on the community of the threatened export of this commodity.

Assimilation Of Foreigners
Dr. Weir Pleaded With Progress Made in Saskatchewan Settlements

Saskatoon, Sask.—Dr. G. M. Weir, principal of the Saskatchewan Normal School, has returned from a tour of school districts in foreign settlements with Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, director of education among foreign populations.

"Conditions are most hopeful," said Dr. Weir. "I was surprised to find progress made in many of the backward districts. I believe the Saskatchewan Department of Education is now following the most efficient and successful course. Erecting residences for the teachers is a great factor in the solution of the problem. It makes living conditions more attractive. It will, of course, take a generation to completely solve the problem, as everything depends on assimilation, but I am sure that we are now going in the right direction."

May Bar Food Export

Anxiety in London That U.S. and Canada May Follow Example of Spain

London.—Some anxiety is felt here that the United States and Canada will follow the example of Spain and prohibit the export of foodstuffs, especially wheat flour, in order to relieve the abnormal prices at present affecting the American continent. Opinion is that such an embargo will drive down prices, and its feasibility is enhanced by the tendency of the European export to rise. While the European food outlook for 1920 is not promising, eight months' supply appears assured, and there is little inclination to buy a large future supply at abnormal prices. Municipal markets are now being opened and are reducing the price of green stuffs 30 to 50 per cent, the result having a decided moral effect.

Be happy and perhaps you'll be good.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

NOXIOUS WEEDS

Miss Ruth Olsen's Essay, Which Won
First Prize At Oyen Agricultural Fair

NOXIOUS WEEDS

General Definition
Perhaps the best definition of the term weed is "any injurious troublesome or unsightly plant that is at the same time useless" or comparatively so. Noxious weeds require further definition. They comprise a class of those vicious growths, whose production of large quantities of seed, whose unbinding habits, whose production of new plants by means of creeping root stocks, and whose indestructibility of seed have earned for them that appellation.

Enumerated

The expression "noxious weeds" includes: Tumbling Mustard, Harb's Ear Mustard, Ball Mustard, Common Mustard, Tansy Mustard, Wormseed Mustard, False Flax, Shepherd's Purse, Red Root, Canada Thistle, Siskeweed, Wild Oats, Russian Pigweed, Blue But, Pamblesweed, Purple Cockle, Perennial Sow Thistle, Blue Lettuce, Cocklebur, Common Barberry and Toad Flax.

Losses

Their flourishing growth and rapid propagation cause the losses due to them to increase greatly every season. Probably the greatest loss by weeds is the greater expenditure for machinery, horses and labor necessary by the need of increased cultivation. Weeds may prevent the growing of grain or fodder crop on land that could be otherwise productive. Weeds rob the soil of plant food, reduce fertility and absorb large quantities of moisture, thus accentuating the effects of drought in dry areas. Weeds crowd out the cultivated crop and increase the cost of blading, threshing and marketing. Binders are even broken by the harvesting of coarser weeds. Heavy dockage is incurred by farmers rigging grain that contains weed seeds on the elevators and the extra freight from elevators to terminal points amounts up to no inconsiderable sum. Weeds attract injurious insects and harbor fungus diseases. When Russian Pigweed and Tumbling Mustard are left standing over winter attacks of cutworms and wireworms are not infrequent occurrences.

How Distributed

Many of the noxious weeds found in this province are of foreign origin and have been introduced from other areas in a variety of ways. Man is the chief agency in spreading weeds. It is responsible for the large distribution of weed seeds imported with foreign seed and weed stalks. Many weeds have made their way into the province in litter used in packing house furniture and utensils. Ranchers and railway contractors have been responsible for the importation of weed seeds in their feed, both hay and oats, which has been brought in from other countries. Weeds are spread by grain racks, threshing machines and various kinds of farm machinery.

Farm stock are also important agencies in spreading weeds. With the exception of sheep, stock should not be permitted to eat weed seeds, or grain containing weed seeds, as the germinating power of weed seeds is not disturbed or destroyed in passing through the intestines of these animals. In cases where only dirty grain is available the cattle should be kept in enclosures. A great deal of trouble has been caused in Alberta by farmers allowing stock to eat the screenings of threshing machines or to eat dirty straw stacks and afterwards to run at large.

Streams, rivers and irrigation ditches distribute weed seeds readily. Attention should be given to weeds growing on the banks of rivers and ditches, and if possible old weeds lodged in them should be gathered and burned.

Weed seeds are often carried long distances by high winds from dirty surface-cultivated lands and over the snow in winter. The seeds of such weeds as the Perennial Sow Thistle, Blue Lettuce, and Canada Thistle are carried in the wind by the parachute equipment with which they are furnished. Other weeds, such as Tumbling Mustard, Pamblesweed and Russian Thistle break off easily at the base of the stem and roll long distances, distributing seed as they go.

Weeds are classified not by the habits of individual plants, but by the habits characteristic of the members of certain classes. When plants are known as members of a class, the knowing of one assists us in associating it with the others and conversely, the knowledge of the characteristics and habits of a family enables us to identify the individual and also to know at once the steps necessary to combat it.

How Classified

Classifying them in this way, weeds may be considered as belonging to one of the following classes: annuals, or one year plants; biennials, or two year plants; and perennials, or every year plants.

Annuals are plants that complete their growth in one year. Generally their roots are small and therefore they produce large quantities of seed. Examples of annuals are Russian Pigweed, Wild Mustard, Ragweed, Wild Oats and False Flax.

Winter annuals are hard annuals that live through the winter and produce seed early the next summer. In the spring and the plant perishes in autumn after its seed has been ripened and distributed. When the seed germinates and produces a small plant which lives through the winter, ready to produce seed early in the following summer, they are then classed as winter annuals. Examples of winter annuals are: Harb's Ear Mustard, Ball Mustard, Tumbling Mustard, Siskeweed and Shepherd's Purse.

Biennials are plants requiring two seasons in the completion of their growth. Rarely is the first year very bear seed, but instead they store up nourishment and vitality to produce flowers and seed in the second year. Examples are: Blue But and Tansy Mustard.

Perennials continue to live from year to year. They are propagated by means of running root stocks as well as seed and this makes them by far the most difficult weeds to destroy. Canada Thistle, Perennial Sow Thistle and Blue Lettuce are examples of perennials that are noxious weeds.

Naturally the most interesting part of the weed question from the farmer's standpoint is the methods of eradication of these injurious plants. Prevention is the most important measure against them and the one best assured of success. The first principle of prevention is to secure seed grain absolutely free from foul seed and clean footstuffs for working horses. Farmers should be constantly on the alert for any weeds so that they may never be given an opportunity to establish themselves on a farm. Once they have gained a foothold, it will evolve much labor to destroy them. Russian weeds should never be allowed to ripen, and if the plants do succeed in maturing they should be pulled and burned immediately.

How Eradicated

Most noxious weeds can be destroyed by ordinary and suitable farm implements, coupled with persistent effort on the part of the farmer. It is essential to know the stage at which the plant is weakest, for at such a time the work of eradication would be greatly simplified. Also climatic and soil conditions must be taken into consideration, for certain methods will be successful in one locality and fail completely in others.

Annual weeds are not difficult to destroy in most cases. Any system of germinating and then destroying by cultivation is commonly effective.

Winter annuals can be destroyed by following the methods of eradicating annuals, with the exception that late fall cultivation is necessary. Biennial plants can be destroyed best by ploughing. Cutting them weeds two or three times a year will destroy their crown and cause them to die before maturing.

The perennials are the most difficult weeds to eradicate. Improper cultivation will cause them to obtain new vigor. Their extermination should not be attempted except in a dry hot season, when the land should be ploughed and cultivated at intervals. Summer-fallow, crop rotation and sheep pasturing are effective where other methods fail.

Need of Being Aroused

Weeds are given too little attention considering their immense importance as a destructive element. Unless they are successfully dealt with as soon as they appear, the weed difficulty will take on alarming proportions and seriously impede agricultural progress in our province.
